Dean, Faculty of Science University of New Brunswick (UNB)

The University of New Brunswick recognizes and respectfully acknowledges that the University of New Brunswick stands on the unsundered and unceded traditional Wolastoqey land. The lands of Wabanaki people are recognized in a series of Peace and Friendship Treaties to establish an ongoing relationship of peace, friendship, and mutual respect between equal nations.

The University of New Brunswick \(UNB\) is among Canada's top comprehensive universities. Its rich history of leading discovery and innovation stems from its entrepreneurial thinking, which has been unlocking creative potential since 1785. The unique nature of UNB's world-class programs attracts students from over 100 countries. UNB is named among Forbes Canada's Best Employers of 2021 and is consistently ranked among Canada's Top 100 Employers and Atlantic Canada's Top Employers.

The Faculty of Science consists of five departments (Biology, Chemistry, Earth Sciences, Mathematics and Statistics, and Physics) that offer a wide variety of undergraduate BSc programs, and over twenty-five degree possibilities, including joint and concurrent degree options in arts and science and computer science and science. These degree options include a BSc in Psychology and a joint program in Geological Engineering between the Departments of Earth Sciences and Civil Engineering. All departments in the Faculty of Science offer both Masters and PhD research-based programs, with approximately 150 graduate students currently supported by over 100 faculty, adjunct and honorary research associate's.

As Dean, Faculty of Science, you will be responsible for the overall management of the Faculty of Science, providing strategic and effective leadership for students, faculty, the University and the scientific community. Working collaboratively with internal and external stakeholders, you will contribute to the development of the Faculty's academic programs, teaching and research, promoting a student-centred approach, teamwork and engagement across departments. Reporting to the Vice President Academic (Fredericton) and working closely with the President and Vice-Chancellor, decanal colleagues and other members of the University's senior management team, you will be a champion of the UNB Toward 2030 Strategic Plan and the University's drive to turn ideas into action.

As the ideal candidate for Dean, you possess a strong scientific, academic and research background, with a demonstrated capacity for leadership and a commitment to excellence in teaching and research. The new Dean will be a strategic, collaborative leader with strong interpersonal and communication skills and the vision to build on the momentum that the Faculty has achieved in recent years. You have the credibility and enthusiasm to develop and strengthen relationships with the external community, including alumni, donors and business and scientific leaders, to engage them in supporting and advancing the strategic mission of the Faculty; and the ability to support and mentor students, so as to advance their educational experience and their engagement with the broader learning environment. The new Dean's background and credentials will merit an appointment as full professor in a Science department at UNB.

The University of New Brunswick is committed to employment equity and fostering diversity within their community and developing an inclusive workplace that reflects the richness of the broader community that they serve. The University welcomes and encourages applications from all qualified individuals who will help achieve these goals, including women, visible minorities, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of any sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.
